

Simona Petrovski

I started my musical education at the age of 6, when I simultaneously studied the piano and singing. My hobby is painting, and another great love is psychology, which I am currently studying. My interests are the influence of music on people generally, its origin in the course of evolution, and its significance in a human's life. I am also interested in the impact of music on lifestyle, emotional impact, memory, and information on relevant events.
